The Fens

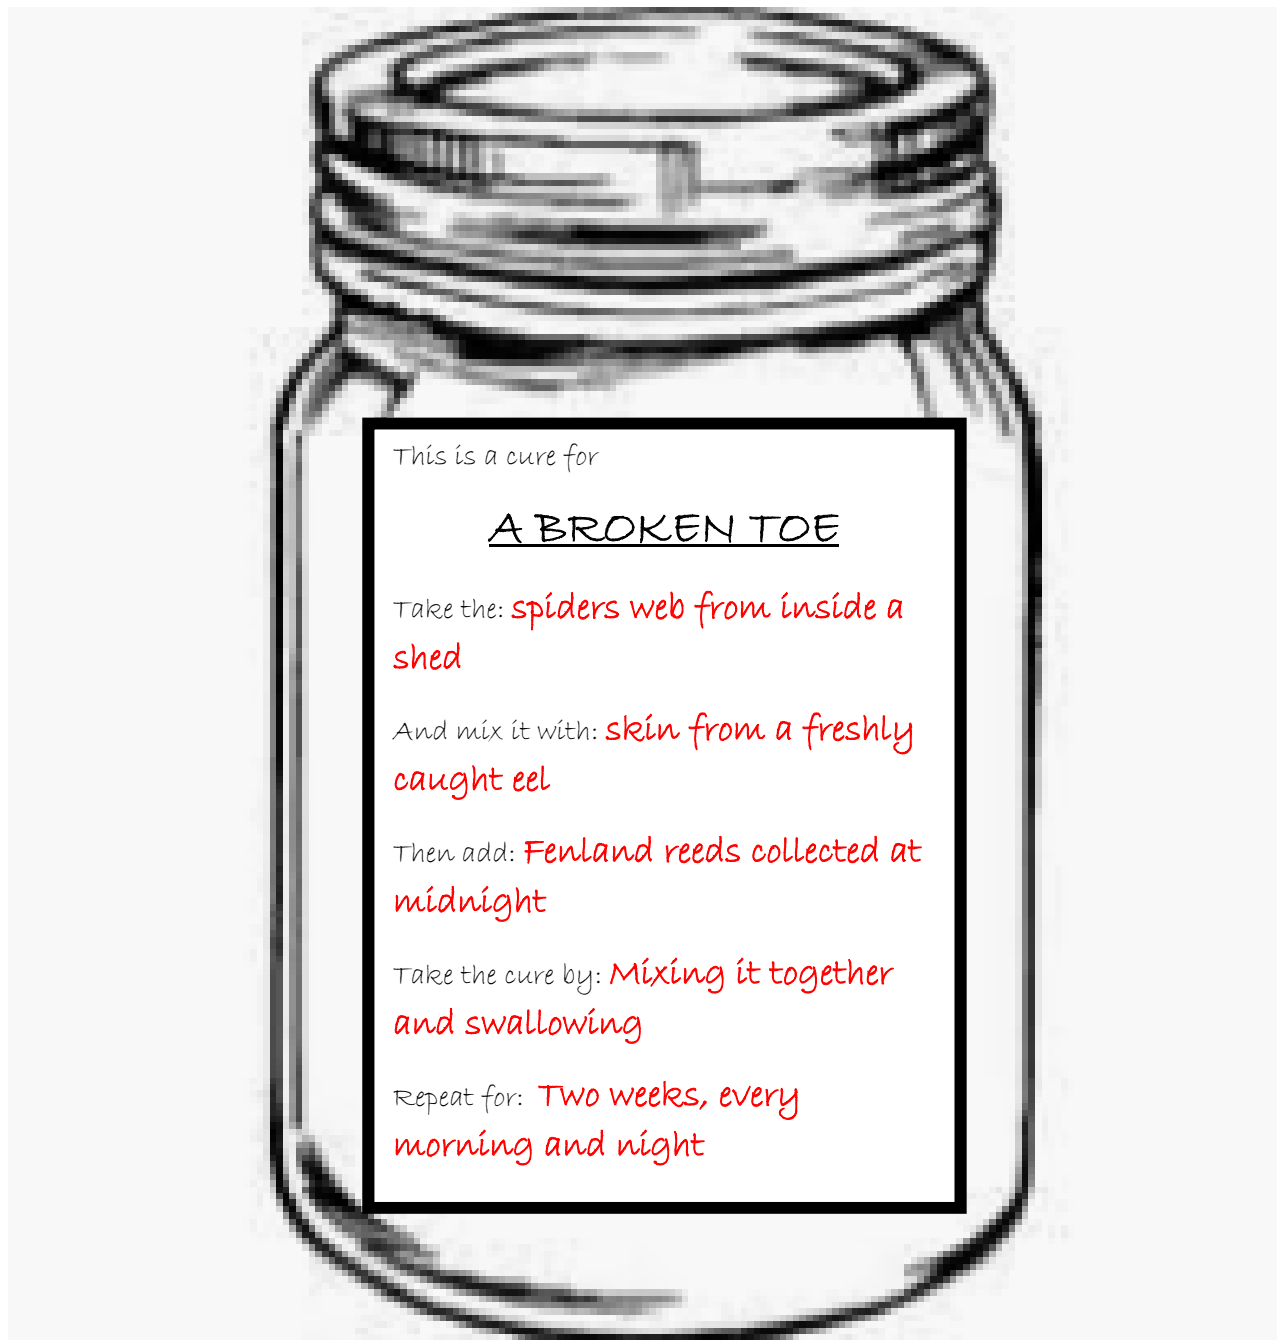

We're going to look at life in the Fens and farming

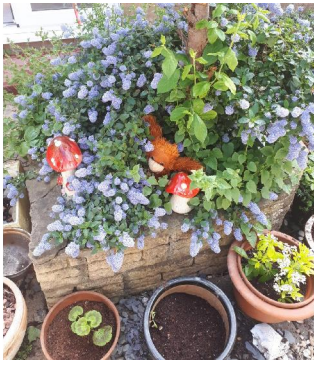

Long ago the Fens were marshy and damp. Before the Fens were drained, they were an unhealthy place to live. Mists, fogs and repeated flooding meant that most people suffered from the fen ague, or fen malaria. It caused intense pain in the limbs, shivering and burning fever. Ancient remedies, made from herbs and other surprising, but readily available ingredients, could be obtained from the local Wise Woman. The Wise Woman would suggest cures we cannot find at the doctors or pharmacist today! Some things were eaten, placed on the skin or had to be buried in the garden to work. Eels were also thought to possess mysterious and healing properties and were widely used in cures

Make a traditional Wise Woman's Cure

As they did not have doctors a long time ago, people in the Fens would visit the local Wise Woman to get cures for illnesses and accidents. The Wise Woman would suggest cures we cannot get from the doctors or pharmacists today! Some things were eaten, placed on the skin or had to be buried in the back garden to work! What would you include in your cure? Choose an illness or injury and write your own cure. Remember the ingredients were natural and could be eaten, placed on the skin or buried in the garden!

Have fun and make sure you send those cures to us!

Lulu decided she would hide in the bushes. She is very cheeky today.

Humphrey is taking the opportunity to play on the cars outside. He feels a little bit lonely without you all in school.

Have a great day and don't forget to keep sending those lovely photographs in showing us your amazing work.
