- Exploring Winter
- An intriguing suitcase

LEARNING IN ACTION...

Nursery

"I think it was a bear, a tiny bear!"
Myles

We made the most exploring the wintry landscape this week, mark making in the snow with foraged sticks. The children discovered footprints, generating discussion about who made the footprints and where they might go! We've been exploring winter sensory writing and creating wintry collages. The children have been writing thank you letters in the outdoor post office and re-enacting the story of Postman Bear, counting and stopping at the correct number when making deliveries of 1 or 2 letters to our friends.

LEARNING IN ACTION...

Year 3

I think this belongs to a lighthouse
keeper. -Alex

I think this person is someone who likes nature because of the binoculars. - Olive

Maybe this is George Stephenson's
suitcase! - Charlotte

All of these things
would be something an explorer would need. - Ava R

We had a very exciting start to our first week back. We had been left an intriguing suitcase with a range of peculiar items such as a teapot, binoculars, a mop head and an oil lamp! After making some predictions, we discovered that they were linked to the book 'The Green Ship'.

Word Wizard competition will start up again from next week so keep on reading and quizzing!

Have you read...?

Mrs Guerin recommends 'The Green Ship'. When two bold adventurers climb over a wall to explore the overgrown garden next door, they discover a ship made of bushes, with tall, thin trees for masts. With their imaginations at the ready, they embark on a glorious voyage.

Phonics!

Fred says 'Well done'
to all children
returning to their phonics lessons after Christmas! You've worked super hard learning new sounds
and reading lots of tricky red words.

Postman Bear

JULIA DONALDSON & AXEL SCHEFFLER

A lovely short rhyming story. Bear is writing letters to his best friends.
He hand-delivers these letters to each of them.

We are aiming for 97% attendance.

KS1 - Class 2 98.67%
