Our Reception pupils have been learning about Autumn and Harvest this week. They used the natural objects to make repeating patterns during their maths lessons. It was great to see the patterns they made and to hear them describing them!

Year 4 have just finished their English unit on 'The Baker by the Sea'. We have been writing persuasive brochures for tourists to come and visit the village in the story. As our hook lesson, we made coconut buns following the recipe inside the book.

What can you do at home to support learning?

Supporting your child with CENTURY

Homework will be set on CENTURY each Friday. Every child will receive a Maths and English task to complete each week. Each task should take approximately 20-30 minutes.

When completing homework on CENTURY, we encourage children to make full use of the videos and slides provided to support their understanding. They may also wish to make jottings on paper or a whiteboard if this helps them work through ideas.

We would like children to complete their homework as independently as possible, as this allows CENTURY's intelligent algorithm to identify each child's strengths and suggest personalised next steps in their learning.

Great Talking!

Practice active listening: Put away phones and turn off background noise. Give them your full attention and wait patiently for them to reply.

Follow their lead: Talk about what they are currently playing with or looking at. Comment on their actions instead of immediately asking a test question.

Word Wizard Winners:

Have you read...?

Miss Turner recommends...
 Running My Own Race by Abena Eyeson. All Kofi has ever wanted to do is run, when he's given the chance to join a private school's athletics team, he can't believe it. Kofi soon finds out achieving your dream isn't an easy road.

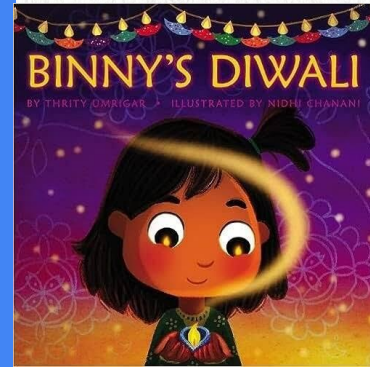

Phonics!

Fred says 'Well done' to Mrs Poole's phonics group for reading their speedy words super speedily!

Mrs Wilson recommends Binny's Diwali, a story about a young girl named Binny who feels nervous about speaking in front of her classmates, but proudly shares the magic of oil lamps, fireworks, and special foods.

Attendance
